

Report on Induction Program: Academic Year 2025-26 M.A. English (M87)

As per the guidelines of the University Grants Commission – Distance Education Bureau (UGC-DEB), an Induction Program for students admitted to the Postgraduate Degree M. A. English (M87) program for the academic year 2025-26 was organized online via ZOOM platform by the School of Humanities and Social Sciences. The Induction Program was arranged on Monday 10th November, 2025 from 02:30 PM to 04:00 PM. This induction program was followed by another follow-up orientation session on Friday 14th November 2025 from 03:30pm to 05:00pm.

While the follow-up orientation session was guided by Prof. Nagarjun Wadekar (Director, School of Humanities and Social Sciences, YCMOU), the induction program was carried out by Dhammaratna Jawale (Academic Coordinator, SHSS, YCMOU) along with Dr. Pramod Wagh (Academic Coordinator, SHSS, YCMOU). During the induction program on 10th November, Dhammaratna Jawale introduced the program structure using a Canva slide-show. Through this, he gave a detailed presentation covering the introduction and objectives of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, the objectives and outcomes of the MA-English program, its course structure, syllabus structure, credit system, evaluation pattern, assessment method, self-study material, counseling sessions, assignment methods, various student welfare schemes, important websites, and future job opportunities. After this session, he and Dr. Pramod Wagh engaged in Q & A session with the students, in which they have answered queries and doubts of the students regarding various broad aspects of the program. They also provided detailed guidance to the students on the distance education system, the university's background, introduction to the university, objectives, and university procedures.

Another follow-up orientation session was carried out by Prof. Nagarjun Wadekar, in which he gave a detailed walk-through of the courses and their units of the first year MA-English Program. He explained units, their contents and expected learning. Students got a detailed overview of all the four courses of the first year. Students asked their queries related to course content, curriculum, cyber security course and future career scope after completion of the program. All these questions were extensively addressed.

Most of the admitted students of the program participated in both of these sessions. Finally, the attendees were thanked and the orientation was concluded with the consent of the Director. Administrative Assistant Mr. Gulab Ghatal provided valuable support to make these orientation programs successful.
