

Subject - Sociology Course Outcomes

Program and Course Outcomes Master of Arts - Sociology (M86) Master of Arts Sociology First Year
Program Outcomes (M86)	After successful completion of this program, the learners would... 1. Understand key sociological concepts, theories, perspectives and trends. 2. Critically assesses the contributions of classical and contemporary sociological thinkers 3. Recognize the significant contributions of Indian sociologists to the field of Sociology. 4. Evaluate the effects of globalization, mass media, social change, and movements on Indian society. 5. Enhanced Understanding of Human Rights Enforcement Mechanisms 6. Develop observational skills, objectivity, and a scientific research attitude; and thus analyze the interdependence and structural changes in rural, urban, and tribal communities
Course Name	Course Code	Course Outcomes
Classical Sociological Thought and Theories (Course Outcomes)	SOC517	After successful completion of this Course, the learners would... 1. Understand the origin, development, and different theoretical approaches in sociology. 2. Gain knowledge of broad theories from classical thinkers like Marx and Weber to modern theorists. 3. Compare and analyze functionalist and conflict perspectives to understand social structure. 4. Study small-scale social interactions and meanings using symbolic interactionism and related approaches. 5. Analyze gender discrimination, power relations, and feminist perspectives in society. 6. Learn and apply qualitative and quantitative research methods. 7. Understand and analyze contemporary trends like post-structuralism, globalization, information technology, and environmental sociology.
Indian Society and Culture (Course Outcomes)	SOC518	After successful completion of this Course, the learners would... 1. Understand the origin, development, and perspectives of Indian sociology. 2. Identify and evaluate different types of social inequality. 3. Study various social movements and understand their impact on society. 4. Analyze social structure and contradictions within society. 5. Understand the impact of media and globalization and evaluate their social effects. 6. Deeply analyze current social problems and movements.

Application of Sociological Research Methods (Course Outcomes)	SOC519	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students will understand the basic concepts, history, and philosophical approaches of social research. 2. They will be able to correctly use different quantitative and qualitative research methods and concepts. 3. They will be able to analyze data collection techniques, analysis methods, and generalization processes. 4. They will be able to write research reports effectively and use proper referencing and citation techniques. 5. They will be able to evaluate ethical and technical aspects of research and produce high-quality, ethical research.
Sociology of Media and Globalization (Course Outcomes)	SOC520	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students will understand the history, concepts, and theoretical framework of media. 2. They will analyze how media affects social identities and how different groups are represented. 3. They will be able to examine and evaluate issues related to new media, cyber security, and the internet. 4. They will understand the social and political effects of globalization on Indian society. 5. They will learn about changes in production systems, the role of women, and the condition of workers
 Course Outcome Master of Arts – Sociology (M86) Master of Arts Sociology Second Year
Contemporary Social Theories (Course Outcomes)	SOC617	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students will be able to clearly explain contemporary sociological concepts, major sociologists, and their theories. 2. Students will be able to identify similarities and differences among various contemporary theories and analyze them. 3. Students will be able to explain the concept, features, and social and economic effects of Globalization, along with its historical context. 4. Students will be able to evaluate concepts related to social inequality and social justice. 5. Students will be able to analyze social movements, civil organizations, and the social impacts of COVID-19. 6. Students will be able to present thoughtful and alternative solutions to contemporary issues using sociological concepts.

Sociology of Development and Human Rights (Course Outcomes)	SOC618	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Understand the origin, development, and perspectives of Indian sociology. 2. Identify and evaluate different types of social inequality. 3. Study various social movements and understand their impact on society. 4. Analyze social structure and contradictions within society. 5. Understand the impact of media and globalization and evaluate their social effects. 6. Deeply analyze current social problems and movements.
Urban Studies and Ethnicity (Course Outcomes)	SOC619	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students will understand the basic concepts, history, and philosophical approaches of social research. 2. They will be able to correctly use different quantitative and qualitative research methods and concepts. 3. They will be able to analyze data collection techniques, analysis methods, and generalization processes. 4. They will be able to write research reports effectively and use proper referencing and citation techniques. 5. They will be able to evaluate ethical and technical aspects of research and produce high-quality, ethical research.
Sociology of Gender (Course Outcomes)	SOC620	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students will understand the history, concepts, and theoretical framework of media. 2. They will analyze how media affects social identities and how different groups are represented. 3. They will be able to examine and evaluate issues related to new media, cyber security, and the internet. 4. They will understand the social and political effects of globalization on Indian society. 5. They will learn about changes in production systems, the role of women, and the condition of workers.