

Dhananjay Mane is working as a Professor in chemistry at Dr. Babasaheb Ambekdar Marathwada university, Aurangabad (MS) India affiliated college since 26 years. He has vast experience of teaching and research. on his credit there are 118 publications and 5 books and he has guided successfully 9 Ph.D Students and 12 are working for their Ph. D. He has successfully organised conferences and participated in various academic forum in India and abroad. He is now presently working as Deputy Director of University Grants Commission's Human Resource Development center, Dr. Babasaheb Ambekdar Marathwada university, Aurangabad (MS) India.

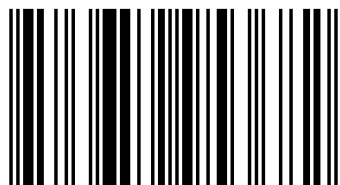

Synthesis of Morpholine Derivatives

Dhananjay Mane
V. Loganathan

Novel Morpholine Derivatives: Synthesis and Characterization

Nitrogen and oxygen containing heterocyclic compounds like morpholine and fused ring morpholine are very important building blocks in medicinal chemistry field. So the morpholine derivatives are extensively very essential in the drug discovery research, which stimulate research activity in the field of the broad spectrum of biological activity.

978-3-659-95368-2

Mane, Loganathan

 LAMBERT
Academic Publishing